Miss Caldwell and Murat

Contradictory and exaggerated reports are still circulated with regard to the rupture of the engagement of marriage beween Miss Gwendoline Caldwell and Prince

In an informal conversation Miss Caidwell spoke frankly of her relations with Prince Murat and of the cause of his action with regard to their engagement.

"In the first place" she said, "the Prince has not broken off the engagement. The wedding is only indefinitely postponed, and that in consequence of the counsel acting for us in the matter being unable to agree as to the amount of my income which the Prince should have absolute control of. The story of my offering him $10 000 as an nuity is one of the most monstrous absurdi-ties I have ever read. I knew nothing of such an offer until I read it in the papers. The truth of the matter is I have never offered Prince Murat one sou, either conditionally or unconditionally. I simply referred him to my legal advisers when the question of my estate was broached, and I was much surprised, to say nothing of my feelings being awfully crushed-as would those of any young girl in a similar situation -when the Prince informed me in a curt manner that our wedding must be postponed until my attorneys saw fit to agree with his counsel regarding the amount of my income

he was to control.
"I consulted my lawyers and learned that the demands of the Prince were so unreasonable that they were forced by prudential considerations to decline to accede to them. I asked them how much of my income the Prince wanted for our living purposes, and they said two-thirds, and that I could not afford. I remonstrated with the Prince, but to no purpose. He argued that my income was large, and that, in accordance with our could nestiting a large sum would be resocial position, a large sum would be required. I told him so far as I was concerned I was perfectly willing that he should have his way, but that I was bound to be governed in my financial affairs by those having them in charge. He seemed to think I had more influence in the matter than I I had more influence in the matter than I really possessed, and blamed me for the unhappy state of affairs.

"To prove to him that i really loved him, and earnestly desired to have the ceremony take place, I told my attorney that I was perfectly willing that the Prince should be favorably considered in his demands; but they insisted that such acquiescence would be imprudent, and besides, complications would surely arise therefrom that would render our lives anything but happy. I concluded they knew best, and permitted their judgment to stand. Seeing this, the Prince simply bade me good-by, saying at the same time whenever my attorneys should deem it proper to accede to his demands. be would fulfill his marriage contract. With these words he left me, and I have not seen him since."

In the course of the conversation Miss Caldwell avowed with much feeling that if the Prince would be more reasonable she would forgive him.

MR DAVIS AND GEN. GRANT .- When Gen. Grant was dying in the Mount Magregor cottage the Boston Globe instructed its New Orleans correspondent to interview Jefferson Davis. Mr. Davis was not seen personally, but a few days later penned the following letter:

Dear sir :- Your request, on behalf of a Boston journal, for me to prepare a criticism on Gen. Grant's military career cannot be complied with for the following reasons: First, Gen. Grant is dying; second, though he invaded our country with ruthless hand it was with open hand, and, as far as I know, he abetted neither arson nor pillage, and has since the war, I believe, shown no malignity to Confederates, either of the mil-

Therefore, instead of seeking to disturb the quiet of his closing hours, I would, if it were in my power, contribute to the peace of his mind and comfort of his body. JEFFERSON DAVIS. (Signed)

CHRISTMAS GIFTS.

We have been receiving during the past two weeks our line of Goods for the holidays. We have rejected the entire stock with great care and have seen to it that we bought as low as the goods could be relieved to our parrows fine goods could be relieved to our parrows fine goods at as low prices as they can be purchased for in Washington or elsewhere. We have not space to name the various lines we carry constantly, but wish to call special attention to seme few. First. Five crates of English Porcelain, including 117 pieces of Printed Dinner Sets at $18, 125 pieces Decorated do. at $2250; 125 pieces Decorated do. at $225. These goods are far superior in wearing qualities to the domestic manufacture, and the decorations are very preffy. We have the same styles in Tea and Toilet Sets at correspondingly low figures. We have sold more Tea and Toilet Sets during the past year than for a number of years, and we feel that it is due not only to the splendid assortment, but to the very low prices we ask. In Cabinet Pieces, Ros. Jars, Japanese Ware, Haveland Chins, Cut Glass, Carred Wooden Ware, Umbrella and Piano Lamps, Banquet, Reading and Library Lamps, Royal Worcester, Doulton, Carlsbad, Faunce, Eudolstad and many other of the fancy wares. You can find anything you want. Also some very handsome Bone Plates, Oyster Plates Pudding Sets, After-Dinner Coffees, fine Cr. and Saucers, Wedgwood Cream Pots, Fancy Flower Pots, etc. We cordially invite you to look through our stock, examine the styles and prices and compare them with any other house you visit. We will do all we can to please you, and you will not hesitate to visit our store because you do not want to buy anything. It will be our pleasure to show you the novelties Very respectfully,
